

Alexis Garcia

NOV Energy Products & Services

Education/studies

- B.Sc. Petroleum Engineering from Universidad de America, Bogota, Colombia, 1994

Details of current professional position

- He is serving as Director of Geothermal for NOV. In this role he makes sure to work with different teams inside NOV to formulate the best products and services for a wide range of geothermal applications from direct use to deep hard/hot rock drilling with the objective of increasing efficiency and lowering costs for the end user

Details of current projects

- Involvement in super-hot rock project in the US, deep granite drilling in Switzerland, direct use drilling in France and other projects in Asia Pacific and the Middle East)