

Andreas Lederle

Erdwärme Grünwald GmbH

Education/studies

- Trained banker and business economist (FH)

Details of current professional position

- Managing Director of Erdwärme Grünwald GmbH (EWG) since October 2012, he has developed the company into a modern, fully digital energy producer and heat supplier in the field of renewable energies
- Since January 1, 2014 also Managing Director of Geothermie Unterhaching Produktions GmbH & Co. KG
- Since 2022, he has also been Managing Director of Erdwärme Grünwald II GmbH & Co. KG, the next major intermunicipal geothermal project in the context of the "string of pearls"

Details of current projects

- He is co-founder and designer of the Germany-wide initiative "Wärmewende durch Geothermie" initiative, in which energy suppliers, companies in the construction and supply industry, associations, research institutes and service providers are pursuing the goal of creating a sustainable level playing field for geothermal energy in terms of legislation and funding conditions